Coloring pages for adults from Just Color China, the third largest country in the world, is located in the eastern part of Asia. Officially known as the People's Republic of China, the country has the largest population in the world, a whopping 1.3 billion people! China's civilization dates back thousands of years. Traditionally, the nation is ruled by powerful families known as dynasties. A series of dynasties was in power from 221 .C to 1912. The Chinese government was adopted by the Communist Party in 1949. This party today remains under the control of the country. One of the most famous attractions in China is the Great Wall of China. Construction of the wall began in 220 . C under China's first dynasty. The wall was built to keep the invaders out of the country. More than 5,500 miles long, the Great Wall is the longest structure built by humans. Mandarin, China's official language, is spoken by more people than in any other language. Mandarin is a character-based language, so it doesn't have an alphabet. This can be difficult to learn because it has four different tones and a neutral tone, which means that as a single word can have multiple meanings. Chinese New Year is one of the most popular holidays in China. It doesn't fall out on January 1 as we think about the New Year. Instead, it starts on the first day of the lunar calendar. This means that the holiday date varies from year to year. It falls some time between late January and early February. The celebration lasts 15 days and features dragon and lion parades and fireworks. Fireworks were invented in China. Each year is named after an animal in the Chinese zodiac. Chinese vocabulary sheet.
